Lectionary Thoughts

from Rev. Delmer Chilton's LectionaryLab.com

When you hear the word "church," what picture comes to your mind? Just close your eyes and think "church?" What did you see? A large neo-gothic cathedral? A picture perfect white frame building with arched windows and a high steeple? Perhaps a sturdy brick building with a bell tower? Maybe something more modern; with soaring glass walls and sharp angles vaulting toward the sky? Maybe a community gathered around a Word and Sacrament, sitting in folding chairs in a room used for something else most of the time? Perhaps a stage with people playing drums and guitars and people with closed eyes and upraised arms singing words of praise? What do you see when you hear the word church?

I'd almost be willing to bet none you saw fifteen or twenty scared and lonely people, huddled behind closed and locked doors, whispering among themselves, jumping out of their skins at every noise from the outside. Whatever our image of church is, it usually doesn't include locked doors and frightened people.

Yet that is the picture John paints of the very first church. First Church, Jerusalem: gathered together on that first Sunday after Jesus' death, huddled and hiding, trembling and terrified, lonely and loveless. They're not much of a church; no organ, no pews, no pulpit, no stained glass windows, no joy, no praise, no word, no sacrament. Nothing but a room to meet in and memories to talk about.

"What was it he said at Supper the other night? Something about the bread being his body and the wine his blood? Peter, what did he mean by that?" "Did you hear what Mary Magdalene and the other women said? They said they went to the tomb this morning and Jesus' body was missing, the stone was rolled away and the body was missing. And Mary Magdalene said she saw the Lord?"

"Well, sure, did anybody check her breath to see what she'd been drinking? She saw Jesus alive this morning? Right! And so on.

They talked, they fretted; they worried themselves sick about what it all meant and what the Roman soldiers or the Chief Priests might be up to. And maybe, just maybe, somebody in the room was praying, but it's not likely.

Doesn't sound like much of a church does it? Preaching professor Tom Long said they are a picture of the church at its worst, "scarred and scared, disheartened and defensive." Long wonders what sort of advertisement might this church put in the Saturday paper to attract members?

The friendly church where all are welcome? Hardly. Locked doors are not a sign of hospitality. The church with a warm heart and a bold mission? Forget it. This is the church of sweaty palms and shaky knees and a firmly bolted front door. Here is a church that has almost nothing going for it, has practically no claim to being church except . . . except that when they gathered, the Risen Christ pushed through the locked door and stood among them.

That is what turned that little group of scarred and scared people into the church, the Presence of the Risen Christ in the room. It wasn't anything they did or didn't do, it wasn't anything they said or didn't say. Church happens when the gathered community pays attention to the presence of the Risen Christ in the room.

And, when that presence is ignored, nothing of any consequence can or does happen. It was the disciples' awareness of and attention to the presence of the Risen Christ that made the difference then; and it is our awareness of and attention to the Presence of the Risen Christ that makes the difference now.

Jesus comes to us today, Jesus comes to us showing us his love for us by showing us the wounds he has suffered on our behalf. Jesus comes to us offering us peace and the fiery breath of the Holy Spirit. Jesus comes to us, to tell us, I love you and I have great plans for you!

Are we paying attention? Amen and amen.

Faith — 'A Little Dab'll Do Ya!'

*By Sharron R. Blezard
from stewardshipoflife.org*

The apostles said to the Lord, "Increase our faith!" The Lord replied, "If you had faith the size of a mustard seed, you could say to this mulberry tree, 'Be uprooted and planted in the sea,' and it would obey you." Luke 17:5-6

More is not always necessary, or even better. You know that more than a little dab can sometimes even be detrimental. It's a normal human tendency to think that more of something will be better; Jesus' disciples were no exception. In fact, the words that seem to push the disciples over the edge to ask for more faith are these:

Occasions for stumbling are bound to come, but woe to anyone by whom they come! It would be better for you if a millstone were hung around your neck and you were thrown into the sea than for you to cause one of these little ones to stumble. Be on your guard! If another disciple sins, you must rebuke the offender, and if there is repentance, you must forgive. And if the same person sins against you seven times a day, and turns back to you seven times and says, 'I repent,' you must forgive" Luke 17:1-4

No wonder they asked for more faith! The pressure is on for do-it-yourself discipleship. How in the world can any one of us—then or now—make the grade? Stumbling blocks and leading folks astray unawares, disciplining the wayward, forgiving the repentant, and REALLY forgiving, even when dealing with a repeat offender. Sort of makes one want to throw up the hands and look for the line where they're handing out rope and millstones.

But that's exactly the point. We can't do this on our own. It is impossible. And that's what Jesus is trying to get his disciples (and us) to see. It is not about us at all. It's all about God and what God can do with ordinary, fallen, fragile, broken, and wonderful bumbleheads like us. We don't need to supersize our faith. We don't need to feel inadequate because someone else seems like more of a saint or appears better-equipped for ministry. We don't need to have edifice envy because the church down the street has a full parking lot every Sunday.

According to Jesus a little dab of faith'll do ya; it's enough to see you through. By the winds of the Holy Spirit God will equip, inspire, and send us to do what we're called to do—to serve the world in the name of Christ because we have been loved, and fed, and saved by a gracious and amazing God.

So relax. Breathe. Quit fretting. Give yourself permission to mess up, because even if you do (and you will), God will be right there to get you back on your feet so you can try again. God will provide. You don't need more faith or greater faith or bigger faith; just exercise the faith you have, no matter how paltry or pitiful it may appear to you. God is in the business of maximizing the small broken bits and pieces of ordinary, everyday faithful folk. Go into the world and share this amazingly good news!
